PREFACE

This Bibliography attempts to include all works of professional interest published in America or by Americans anywhere during 1957, in the entire field of Slavic and East European studies. The Bibliography for 1956 covered thoroughly only the humanities. The Bibliography for 1957 has been expanded to cover the social sciences as well as the humanities, because of the strong feeling expressed by many specialists and by editors of learned journals, not only in the social sciences but also in the humanities, that there should be a thorough annual American bibliography of Slavic and East European studies.

Scope. The Bibliography lists books and articles, but not reviews, unless the review is substantial enough to be considered an independent article. Belles-lettres are included only in cases of scholarly or textbook editions. "America" for the purposes of this Bibliography includes all the Americas, and "Americans" includes not only all who have permanent residence in this hemisphere, but also specialists who taught or resided here during 1957.

Use of the Bibliography. All books and articles listed were published during 1957, unless there is a specific indication otherwise. Numerals in square brackets [ ] refer to item numbers in this Bibliography. Authors are indexed under an Anglicized transliteration, when such a transliteration appears in the Bibliography proper. The Bibliography has been divided into eleven different major topics or disciplines, with some combinations for convenience. As the Table of Contents shows, for the social sciences individual countries are treated under each major heading in a sequence beginning with the Soviet Union and proceeding in an arc from Finland to Greece and Albania; for the humanities, classification is by language family, going from Slavic to Baltic, to Other Indo-European, and ending with Non-Indo-European.

Latin-alphabet spellings in titles have been strictly followed, though this has resulted in numerous instances (e.g., with Dostoevskij) in a number of different spellings of names in the text. Titles of books and articles in Cyrillic have been transliterated, using the system followed in The Slavic and East European Journal. Titles in languages other than English are given in translation only when this translation appears on or opposite the title page or contents page of the work. The technical style of the Bibliography follows that of the Annual Bibliographies of the Publications of the Modern Language Association of America.

Collaborators. This Bibliography has been made possible by the co-operation of a committee of eighteen collaborators, with the following areas of principal responsibility:

Books: J. T. Shaw
Articles:
Geography: Norman J. G. Pounds, Indiana University
History: Robert F. Byrnes, Indiana University
Political Science: Vaclav Benes, Indiana University
Sociology: Dorothy Libby, Indiana University
Law: Serge L. Levitsky, Fordham University (New York)
Economics: Nicolas Spulber, Indiana University
Education: J. T. Shaw
Linguistics and Literature:
Slavic in Canada, and Ukrainian: J. B. Rudnyćkyj, University of Manitoba (Winnipeg)
Russian and Polish: Zbigniew Folejewski, University of Wisconsin (Madison)
Other Slavic and Baltic: Anthony Salys, University of Pennsylvania (Philadelphia)
Modern Greek: Fred W. Householder, Indiana University
Albanian: Eric P. Hamp, University of Chicago
Romanian: Harry R. Keller, Jr., U. S. Naval Academy (Annapolis, Maryland)
Yiddish: Edward Stankiewicz, Indiana University
Non-Indo-European: Alo Raun, Indiana University
Fine Arts: Fan Parker, Brooklyn College (New York)
Folklore: Felix Oinas, Indiana University
Philosophy and Religion: George L. Kline, Columbia University (New York)

It is planned that the Bibliography become annual in its present coverage. The committee have all consented to continue to ser next year and can be addressed as above, with the following exceptions: Professor Pounds will be Visiting Professor of Geography, University of Kansas, Lawrence, and materials can be sent to him there; Professor Householder will be on sabbatical leave out of the country—materials for his section may be sent to the Editor. The committee members request that specialists send directly to them reprints, copies of publications, and bibliographical information about their 1958 publications, for inclusion in next year's Bibliography. It is particularly urged that American scholars report their publications abroad. If specialists will notify the proper committee member of any inadverten omissions of items which should have been in this Bibliography, they will be included next year, with notation of the proper publication date.

Not only do many non-American scholars and specialists publish in America and hence come under the scope of this Bibliography, but many residents of America publish abroad. This latter group have often been difficult to identify with assurance. It will be appreciated if any errors of inclusion—or of any other kind—will be called to the attention of the Editor. If a scholar prefers a particular Anglicized spelling of his name, this spelling will be used henceforth, if he will inform the Editor or proper member of the committee.

The Editor acknowledges with gratitude the support of the Indiana University Research Committee and the Editorial Committee of the Graduate School Slavic and East European Series, who made possible the publication of this Bibliography. He would also like to thank each of the collaborators and also Professor Geo. Winchester Stone, Jr., Executive Secretary of the Modern Language Association of America, for making it possible to include the listings which have already appeared in the PMLA "Annual Bibliography for 1958." In addition, the committee would like to express thanks to those members of the profession who sent journals, books, reprints of articles, and bibliographical data for inclusion, and also to the following individuals who provided assistance: Natalia Pazuniak, University of Pennsylvania, and Joseph Backor, Byron Massialas, Irving R. Jones, and Thomas E. Morton, Jr., of Indiana University.
